

Parent Promise's Pickleball Fundraiser

Come join us for a night of fun to celebrate happy childhoods!

About Us

Parent Promise first began offering home visiting services to parents in the community in 1988 when members of the Exchange Club of Oklahoma City, a civic service organization, raised the funding to start a child abuse prevention center. In 2001, the organization merged with Prevent Child Abuse Oklahoma and changed its name to Parent Promise. The merger created an opportunity to expand services to include advocacy, promote community awareness, and increase the resources offered to families. The foundation of Parent Promise services is a multi-generational approach that strengthens the family unit by educating parents on the critical knowledge of child development, addressing areas of needed improvement (such as parents' educational, employment, and income status), and working with parents to decrease stressors in the household. With this strategy, Parent Promise has helped nearly 8,000 families provide a safe, loving and nurturing home for their children, and we achieved an 85 percent success rate of preventing participating families from entering the DHS Child Welfare System.
